

Number of hours necessary for progression through level

CEFR Language Levels
Common European Framework of Reference for Language

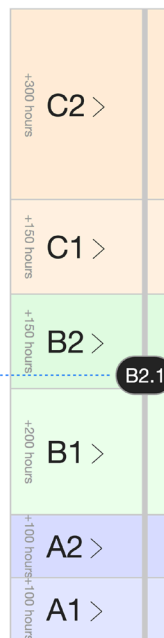

Common European Framework of Reference for Languages

What is my current CEFR Level?

2000+ hours	C2 < C2 Proficient • understand virtually everything heard or read with ease • summarize information from several sources, reconstruct argument give professional presentations	• express self spontaneously fluently and precisely • use colloquial expressions and deal with hostile questions	• write letters and emails on any subject • take full accurate notes from meetings and seminars
150+ hours	C1 < C1 Upper-Intermediate • understand a range of demanding texts and recognize implicit meaning • express ideas fluently and spontaneously	• produce clear, structured texts on complex social or professional subjects • contribute effectively to workshops and seminars in	familiar professional areas • create professional correspondence and take reasonably accurate note
150+ hours	B2 < B2 Intermediate • understand main ideas of complex, abstract text, discuss technical issues in field • interact with native speakers with a degree of fluency	• produce clear, detailed text, defend opinions, present pros and cons	• take notes while someone is speaking, write emails with non-standard requests
100+ hours	B1 < B1 Pre-Intermediate • understand main points of standard speech regarding work and personal life • produce connected text and thoughts on familiar job topics	• describe experiences and events, give reasons and explanations, present opinions • deal with most situations while travelling	• write emails, memos, notes and letters on familiar or predictable matters • understand instructions
100+ hours	A2 < A2 Advance Beginner • understand sentences for basic, personal, family, job info	• ask and understand direct questions on familiar subjects	• describe in simple terms own background, surroundings, job
100+ hours	A1 < A1 Beginner • understand and use everyday, simple, concrete phrases	• introduce self and ask basic questions and personal details	• interact with others if slow and careful speech and used

Descriptions of abilities at given level

Progress Report | Jan 2017 - Jul 2017 | Jörg Reber

Student's Current CEFR Level

CEFR and Certification

Date of Report: 31 Jul 2017

Your current CEFR level: B2.1

Status Overview

Certification for this course: awarded 🏆

Your Overall Grade

5.2	Swiss System	min	max	pass
		1.0	6.0	4.0

Grades in International Comparison

Grade Equivalents

A-	UK / US System	F	A+	C
1.8	German System	6.0	1.0	3.0
16	French System	1	20	10

Grade Breakdown

Grades in Detail

Attendance

Your attendance rate: 90% (60% minimum for certification)

Absent: 1

Present: 8

Out of office: 1

Comment From Your Instructor

I always enjoy class when you come. You bring a totally different energy and viewpoint to class from the others and it has a positive effect on the group. Continue to concentrate on your pronunciation and syllable stress, it is mostly a matter of hearing the correct English pronunciation and then practicing it. When I compare you to two years ago, you have made excellent progress. I watch you during lessons and even though your nature is more on the quiet side, I see that you are actively listening and processing everything we do together and you can be proud of your progress, too!

Personal Feedback to Student